Citizens Bank to Hold Homebuyer Seminar

Citizens Bank of West Virginia will offer a Homebuyer Seminar on April 17 at 6:30 pm at their Elkins office, 211 Third Street, to help aspiring homeowners learn about the home buying process.

The seminar is being held in partnership with the Elkins Randolph Board of Realtors and the Homeownership Center. Realtors from Elkins and Tucker Counties, along with Citizens Bank lenders, will be available following a presentation to answer questions.

The seminar will review key points of the home buying process, choosing the right loan type, the application process, working with the realtor, and closing day. Attendees will receive a $200 off mortgage closing cost coupon – details will be provided at the event.

“The homebuyer seminar is a free event with no pressure or commitment and ideal for people in all phases of home buying,” commented Kathy Leombruno, Senior Vice President & Marketing Officer. “Citizens has a first-time homebuyer loan that is available to residents who have not owned a home in the previous three years or who have never owned a home that we will review as one of our topics. The takeaway information for anyone looking to purchase in upcoming months or even learn about the home buying process will be very helpful.”

Space is limited and registration is encouraged at www.citizenswv.com or on the event tab at <https://www.facebook.com/CitizensBankofWestVirginia>. There will be refreshments and door prizes.
