

Citizens Bank of WV Announces HR and Compliance Officers

Citizens Bank of West Virginia President & CEO Nathaniel S. Bonnell recently announced the appointment of Melissa Stalnaker as Human Resources Officer and Belinda Clevenger as Compliance Officer.

Melissa Stalnaker served as Executive Secretary to the President & CEO and was recently promoted to Human Resources Officer. Before rejoining Citizens in 2018, she worked in the loan and accounting departments as a Title & Commercial Loan Clerk and Accounts Payable Clerk.

She is a graduate of Philip Barbour High School and studied Business Management at Concord College. Stalnaker and her husband, Tim, reside in Bowden.

“With employees being our greatest asset, Melissa will play an integral role in supporting our staff and providing them resources for career development and success,” said Nathaniel S. Bonnell, President & CEO. “I congratulate her on her well-deserved promotion and wish her much success in her new role.”

Belinda Clevenger recently moved from Pennsylvania to West Virginia to rejoin Citizens Bank’s staff. She had previously worked as an Internal Auditor for Citizens in 1996 - 1997 and 1999 – 2004. With over 20 years of auditing and compliance experience, she is now employed as the bank’s Compliance Officer.

She is a graduate of Tygarts Valley High School and earned a B.S. degree in Business Administration/Accounting from West Virginia University. A Certified Public Accountant (CPA), she has earned several designations including Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialist (CAMS) through the Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists (ACAMS); Accredited ACH Professional (AAP) and Accredited Payments Risk Professional (APRP) both through the National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA).

Belinda has one daughter, Regan Clevenger of Basalt, Colorado.

“We are very excited to have Belinda back on our Citizens Bank team” stated Bonnell. “We previously outsourced our compliance needs and decided it would benefit the bank to bring that expertise in-house. Belinda’s background makes her a perfect fit for this role because of her extensive experience with compliance and risk assessments in financial institutions.”
